RAMblings – April 22, 2010

This week, April 26, begins our STAR testing period. For the next two weeks your children will be taking Standardized Tests. In recent Ramblings articles, I have explained what the tests are about and what information we/you will receive from the tests. All the preparation and readiness is complete and now it is time for your children to show us what they have learned. We have talked to students individually and as groups about what the tests mean, and why it is important to do their very best. We are also asking for your help:

- Please make sure your child comes to school every day on time.
- Please make sure they receive a healthy breakfast each morning.
- Please make sure they get to bed at a proper time each evening.
- Most importantly, please make sure your children come to school in a good frame of mind.

Having spoken with many of your children, I truly believe your children are ready and understand the importance of doing their best.
